He held the fugitive up in regular Arizona style, when explanations followed which were a mutual relief.

THE LEGISLATURE.

SEVENTY-SEVENTH DAY.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 12.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House resumed at 1:40. Noble Baldwin, on suspension of the rules, presented the report of the select committee on the item of $60,000 for encouragement of immigration, as follows:

To the Hon. J. S. WALKER, President, Legislature Assembly.

Sir: Your committee to whom was referred the item in the Appropriation Bill, $60,000 for the encouragement of immigration, beg leave to report that we have had the matter under careful consideration, and find the facts relative to the labor question in this country to be as follows:

There is a universal complaint of the scarcity of labor throughout the islands. Chinese labor has gone up rapidly during the past few months, from $18 to $20 per month to $24 and $26.

The following figures we obtain from the Report of the Board of Immigration for 1890. There were 1,210 less Chinese employed on the plantations January, 1890, than in January, 1888. All classes of labor engaged on plantations decreased during the last period, except Japanese. That is to say there was a decrease in the number of Hawaiians, Portuguese, Chinese, and South Sea Islanders employed on the plantations, from 1888 to 1890. The total number of laborers on the plantations, January, 1888, was 14,999; January, 1890, 17,895, or an increase during the two years of 2,896 laborers. The Board of Immigration placed on the plantations during the period 7,527 laborers, but the increase as above shown was only 2,896, showing that the difference of 4,631 laborers was required to take the places of those who left the plantations and went into other occupations or left the country.

There is a greater demand for laborers in the country to-day than there was in 1888, notwithstanding that the Board of Immigration placed on the plantations during the last period 7,527 laborers, and since then 1,064, making a total of 8,591. This demand for labor is due to the expansion and increase of the operations of plantations already existing in the country. Then again three new plantations have been started during the past few months, which will require in the near future something like 2,000 laborers. The starting of other plantations is also contemplated.

Moreover, the Oahu Railway will draw largely on the labor supply of the country, as well as new enterprises it is anticipated this railroad will open up.

Not only the projectors of all these operations, but every man or woman who employs a cook or yard man, every mechanic and tradesman in the country, is interested in there being an ample supply of the lower classes of labor. It is estimated that an addition of from 5,000 to 6,000 laborers will be required during the present period for plantation purposes, and if 4,600 laborers—the number that left the plantations last period—leave that service this period, it will be necessary to introduce about 10,000 laborers to prevent a shortage.

If, however, the proposed tariff revision on sugar should pass the United States Senate, the above estimate should be reduced somewhat, as in that case it is not likely new plantations will be started.

Portuguese immigration has been discontinued.

It is not best to bring into the country Japanese only. It seems to us wise for this Legislature to pass the necessary legislation to introduce Chinese under restrictions, and for this Government to negotiate a convention with China to carry out this object. It will require some expenditure to negotiate this convention.

We find that during the past five periods the amounts appropriated by the Legislature for the encouragement of immigration were as follows:

Period.	Amount.
1880-2	$100,000
1882-4	500,000
1884-6	390,000
1886-8	150,000
1888-90	30,000

The amount asked for in the Appropriation Bill of $60,000 is extremely moderate compared with the above amounts former Legislatures deemed wise to appropriate for this purpose, and in view of the present great demand for labor and the probable necessity of introducing at least 10,000 during the period in order to keep up with the demand of the various enterprises throughout the country, your committee recommend that the item pass as in the Appropriation Bill.

H. P. BALDWIN,
C. N. SPENCER,
JNO. M. HORSLEY,
PAUL ISENBERG.

I am in accord with the report of the majority of the committee except in so far that if the labor of Chinese is needed, their coming and their staying here, and their occupation, should be restricted in such manner, that, except for the purpose of supplying field labor, their numbers should not be increased, or the road opened for them again to compete with white labor. Further, I am not prepared to believe that the introduction of so many as 10,000 laborers will be required to meet the necessities of the agriculturalists.

E. C. MACFARLANE.

Rep. Brown moved the report be laid on the table with the appropriation bill.

Rep. Kapachale moved it be considered with the bill regulating Chinese immigration. Lost.

Rep. Brown's motion was carried.

The House proceeded to the order of the day, consideration of the Appropriation Bill in committee of the whole, Rep. Rice in the chair.

Rep. Brown moved the House proceed with items which have been referred to committees and reported upon.

Noble Widemann moved the item for water survey be considered. There was a resolution calling for an appropriation (Rep. Marquis—For an irrigation engineer) to make a survey and ascertain what the various water supplies amount to.

Noble J. M. Horner wanted to know how far this investigation would go. It was believed that water might be obtained on Molokai by artesian wells. The island was dry, but the soil rich. (Here ensued a long pause.)

Minister Brown said there seemed nothing before the House, and he would propose that the House consider the immigration item, and the Valencio Road. He would move the immigration item pass as recommended by the committee ($60,000).

Rep. Kapachale moved to take up the report of the committee recommending an appropriation of $50 for work done by a certain petitioner in the courthouse at Lahaina. Minister Brown said his own motion had been seconded.

The item encouragement of immigration, $60,000, passed.

Minister Brown thought it was out of order to go back and insert items. The President ruled this morning that it was.

The chairman stated that according to the ruling of the President it could not be done.

Rep. Kapachale said it was a rule of the House, and did not apply to the committee.

The chairman thought he could not go back on the President's ruling.

Rep. Brown said section 3 was before the House now, and any item could be inserted in that section. As to whether the committee could go back to another section he felt doubtful.

Rep. Kapachale thought it perfectly in order to move to insert an item anywhere at any time in committee.

Noble Walbridge said he had once been ruled out of order in trying to make a similar motion.

Rep. Kapachale moved to insert the item in question immediately after that for government vaults, etc.

The committee report on the item was read.

Noble Widemann moved the item $50 be inserted. Carried.

Rep. Kapachale moved insertion of $5000 to dig artesian well at Molokai.

Noble J. M. Horner favored a well. He did not know what was the right place.

Rep. Kapachale said there were about thirty acres at Kamalo where natives were planting cane. They had deeded a piece of land to the Government there, and on this land they wanted the Government to dig a well. There was a good deal of land at Kamalo which would be cultivated if there were water.

Rep. Brown did not approve of the Government doing this. The parties who would get the benefit of the water ought to sink the well themselves. All the wells on Oahu were dug by private persons. There was plenty of water there for washing and drinking purposes. If there is any large landowner there who wants water on his land, let him dig a well himself. Water has been obtained on Maui, and at Malukona, Hawaii, but the wells were sunk by private individuals.

Rep. Kapachale said the rule laid down by the hon. member was very well if it were consistently applied. $60,000 has just been passed for immigration; who would get the benefit of that? The planters. If it was wrong to help the planters to water, it was to help them to immigrants. Why did the hon. member vote a large subsidy to the Oahu R. & L. Co.? The speaker saw himself no harm in the Government sinking a well. If it was a success private parties would dig others, and the Government would reap a large return in increased taxes.

Noble Widemann would like to ask the hon. member from Molokai a question or two. Where was the well to be dug? (Rep. Kapachale—On a piece of land at Kamalo.) The same place as the former well? (That was something for the Minister to decide.) There was no reason why work on the old well should have been dropped merely because there was a stone in the way. Under the circumstances the people themselves ought to do something. Artesian wells were a ticklish business. At Kahuku and Honolulu they always get flowing water. He had bored a dozen wells himself, and never got any flowing water yet. He was willing to vote for a small appropriation to help them go down a moderate distance.

Noble Pua said Rep. Brown did not believe in helping these people to dig a well. Yet a few days ago the House passed $10,000 to help coffee growing. He would favor paying for the well if water was struck, otherwise nothing.

Noble Cornwell would favor the well if there was any Government land there to be benefited by the well, otherwise not.

Noble Isenberg moved it be $2500, with which an experiment could be made.

Rep. Kapachale thought it was not worth while to appropriate $2500, as that would not complete the well. The work would be done under supervision of the Minister of Interior, who would not spend more of the $5000 than was required.

Passed at $2000.

Noble Pua moved to insert $848.25 for the relief of Wong Chong Sam, as recommended by the judiciary committee for work on a road.

Minister Brown moved the item be struck out. This Chinaman built a road to his rice mill. They were not there to pay for roads that people built at their own pleasure.

Noble Pua said the road was made to a point near the Asylum road, and was a public convenience.

Rep. R. W. Wilcox favored passing the item.

Noble Widemann asked over whose land the road was made. A dialogue in native ensued between him and Noble Pua.

Rep. Nawahi claimed that it was the only road to get to the Insane Asylum.

Rep. Brown opposed the item. It would not do to pay for roads built by private persons on their own responsibility.

Noble Widemann lived near the Asylum 25 years ago, when he had to walk through taro patches. A few years ago he drove there in a carriage.

Rep. Cummings was acquainted with Achi's land, and Achi told him he built a road over his land at his own expense. If the House paid the Chinaman, Charlie Achi would be in with another claim, to be followed with a host of others. The residents of the locality had not petitioned for this payment, it was only a resolution of the hon. Noble.

There was something wrong with it. Noble J. M. Horner was beginning to get excited. He saw some money in this. He had spent $8000 building a road in his district, which everybody used who went that way.

As it had been said that the Chinaman asked $848 for a road that cost him $400, he should put his road at Hamakua in for $16,000. He had also built a road in California. If all who built roads in this way came in, where would they be? To build roads and bridges for their own private convenience and then come in with a bill seemed entirely out of place, but if it was going to begin he wanted to present his bill with the rest.

Rep. Nawahi asked if the road the hon. Noble built in California led to the Insane Asylum. (Laughter.) When he signed the report he understood that it recommended the payment of the claim in full, otherwise he should not have signed it.

Rep. Halstead said he read the report through before signing it, and he understood the recommendation to have been that petitioner should be paid something.

The item was rejected.

The committee rose, and Rep. Rice presented its report, which was adopted.

ADJOURNMENT.

Noble Marsden moved that the House adjourn till Monday morning.

Noble Isenberg did not think it right that the House should lose every Saturday.

Noble Marsden said Saturday was as good as any day for committee work.

Noble Horner understood that all the committees were through with their work.

Noble Marsden said the hon. Noble was mistaken. There was abundance of unfinished work for committees.

Rep. Halstead wanted to-morrow for the judiciary committee to investigate the opium scandal.

Noble Widemann said the House would only have two hours Saturday.

Noble Horner said that was half a day. When the House gave more time to the judiciary committee it did not give them Saturday.

The House adjourned at 3:40 till 10 o'clock Monday morning.
